(I) Report under Article 19, Paragraph 2, Sub-paragraph 2-2 of the Cabinet Office Ordinance on the Disclosure of Corporate Affairs, etc.

(1) Name of Securities

Stock acquisition rights of Visa Inc.

The securities constitute purchase rights with amendments of the exercise price.

(a) Characteristics of Purchase Rights with Amendments of the Exercise Price

The number of Common Stock to be issued upon exercise of Purchase Rights in the Offering Period will increase if the actual exercise price of the Purchase Rights, which shall be determined as set forth below, becomes lower. The net proceeds from the Offering will not decrease if the actual exercise price of the Purchase Rights becomes lower.

Eligible Employees in Japan can elect to have a specified percentage of their eligible compensation (1% to 10%) withheld from their pay each pay period on an after-tax basis. On the last business day of each month during the Offering Period (the “Purchase Date”), the Company will use those funds to purchase whole Common Stock for a price equal to 85% of the Fair Market Value on the Purchase Date. Therefore, the actual exercise price of Purchase Rights shall be determined based on 85% of the Fair Market Value of the Common Stock on the Purchase Date.

The number of shares of Common Stock that may be issued under the Plan shall not exceed 20,000,000 shares, which represents approximately 1 percent (1%) of the shares of Common Stock outstanding on July 7, 2026.

There is no lower limit of the Purchase Price (as defined in the Plan) and the net proceeds from the Offering, because the main purpose of the Plan is not to raise funds for the Company but to encourage and facilitate stock ownership by employees by providing an opportunity to purchase Common Stock through voluntary after-tax payroll deductions. Not all of the Purchase Rights will necessarily be exercised.

The Company does not have the Purchase Rights.

(b) The reason for the Company’s raising funds by issuing Purchase Rights with Amendments of the Exercise Price

The Offering is to be made for the purpose of securing for the Company and its stockholders the benefits of the incentive inherent in the ownership of Company capital stock by employees of Visa Inc. and its subsidiaries. Consequently, the Offering is not intended to raise funds. The Company believes that encouraging stock ownership by employees of the Company and its subsidiaries through the Plan is an effective method of aligning the interests of employees and the Company's shareholders in a way that is beneficial to employees, shareholders and the Company.
